Never a dull moment:

MOUNTAIN DAY

The entire Storm King School community scales Storm King Mountain together to mark the beginning of the new school year. This tradition dates back to 1932 when Headmaster Anson Barker instituted the very first Mountain Day.

HUDSON RIVER PLUNGE

In early spring, a hearty group of students and faculty take “the Plunge” into the icy waters of the Hudson River. This event, organized by the SKS Chapter of the National Honor Society to raise funds for charitable causes, has become a Storm King tradition full of laughs and cheers.

COME SEE THE SHOW

Enthusiastic actors, singers, dancers, and musicians find time to rehearse in our impressive Walter Reade Jr. Theatre and delight crowds with superb performances each year! Just recently, it was the musical Mamma Mia!

ARTS WEEKEND

Creativity comes to life during Spring Arts Weekend. This annual event celebrates various branches of the visual, performing, and language arts, along with the talent and dedication of our students and faculty. Attending this event will give you a first-hand look at how arts thrive in the Storm King curriculum.

THURSDAY NIGHT DINNERS

Every meal offers an amazing selection of healthy and delicious foods, but Thursday evenings are extra special as our chefs prepare “family style” dinners for the entire community. Formal dress is worn and students and faculty take the time to slow down and enjoy pleasant conversation. Afterwards, all head to the theater for a thought-provoking program.

MORE THAN A SCHOOL

We are a small community with big possibilities

“Here everybody knows me by my first name.” —Seth Vieira '22

GO BEYOND THE NUMBERS

Certain facts are impressive—from the year our School was established (1867) to our college acceptance rate (100%). However, when you speak to our students, parents, and alumni, you will find that they are most appreciative of the big possibilities that go along with being a part of our small community. This can be directly attributed to our extensive Storm King Alumni Network, with community members residing across the globe in 49 countries and growing.

BE KNOWN

Our enrollment of 195 is perfect for cultivating a supportive and close-knit, yet diverse community. We are a place where you can explore your individuality safely within a supportive and nurturing framework of human relationships. From being known and accepted as an individual, you will build your confidence, be empowered to strive, take risks, and reimagine your potential in all areas of your life—leading to big possibilities.

Inspiring Teachers, Coaches, and Mentors

EXCEPTIONAL EDUCATORS

Our faculty members are passionate about what they do, and masters of their subject areas. They carefully design curriculum to push each student to their maximum potential, while expanding their opportunities for learning both in and out of the classroom.

The majority of our faculty has chosen not only to teach at Storm King, but also to call Storm King home. Some 65 percent of teachers and staff live on campus, and those who don't live on-site still share meals with students, coach sports teams, lead co-curricular activities, and build relationships that extend beyond the classroom.

Our School community fosters a unique connection between students and teachers, making learning less of an academic pursuit and more a part of real life. Discussions that begin during class continue in the dining hall, on the playing field, and in the dormitory. Because Storm King teachers come to know the whole person, not just the student they see in class, they are able to advise them on a more personal level. Students, in turn, see their teachers as adults they can trust, not just the people who administer their tests.

A CLOSER LOOK AT ONE OF OUR EXCEPTIONAL TEACHERS ▼

Dr. Paul Feffer, Science Department Chair, Advisor, Coach

BS, Physics, Stanford University; PhD, Physics, University of California at Berkeley

Dr. Paul Feffer has always been passionate about learning. As a boy, his father, a professor of orthopedic surgery, brought home real mercury (you know, the toxic stuff), so that his son could make a barometer. Later, inspired by Carl Sagan's television series Cosmos, he took an interest in the skies and picked up rocketry. While in high school, he had a summer job working for an architect creating a scale model of a hotel. Subsequently, he taught himself to program computer software at the dawn of Apple and Microsoft, when very few knew how to use a computer—and even fewer knew how to teach programming.

When you walk into one of Dr. Feffer's classes at Storm King, you can feel his passion for learning and natural curiosity, and you can see how he conveys this to his students.

College Counseling GIVING YOU THE UPPER HAND

The College Counseling Program at Storm King has a reputation for finding colleges and universities that will best match your academic potential, career interests, aspirations, and your family’s financial considerations. The results of our personalized college counseling approach are impressive. One-hundred percent of our students are accepted into college while 90% of our seniors gain admission to one or more of their top three college choices each year.

REALIZE YOUR DREAMS

ACADEMIC PHILOSOPHY

At Storm King, the ultimate goal for both our teachers and students is the achievement of deeper learning. To promote this, our faculty relies on innovative methods and approaches that will actively engage you with the subject at hand as you master the necessary content in various disciplines. Administrators and teachers build curriculum by focusing on fundamentals and encouraging the application of newly-acquired knowledge and skills through experiential, project-based learning experiences and real-world problem solving. Course content, lesson plans, and assessments are constructed holistically with this goal in mind.

“ We challenge students at a range of levels, including the very highest. Our aim is to take advantage of every opportunity for learning, whether it be inside or outside of the classroom.”

—Dr. Tim Lance, Dean of Academics

Academics

YOUR PATH TO SUCCESS

As a Storm King Student, you will learn deeply because our teachers will actively engage you—in the subject matter, while learning new skills, and more broadly, in the ownership of your education and the creation of your own personal trajectory. Learning experiences crafted by faculty both inside and outside the classroom will spark your imagination, encourage you to use your creativity and take risks, cause you to think critically, and prompt you to collaborate with your peers—21st century skills you will rely on throughout your life.

SIGNATURE PROGRAMS ▼

THE CAPSTONE PROJECT is a voluntary, independent research project beginning in the spring of the junior year and completed in the fall of the senior year. It synthesizes learning from previously completed courses while focusing on our bedrock Skills and Knowledge for Success (S.K.S.). These 21st century skills include strategic reading, writing, research, problem solving, technological proficiency, collaboration, and oral presentation skills. Students will be guided through the process by a course instructor as well as “experts,” who are faculty or community mentors, with project-specific knowledge.

THE Q-TERMS are short, intensive courses that provide faculty and students a chance to explore more deeply subject matter for which they have a particular passion and curiosity. Students meet with the same class and instructors every day and pursue only the subject related to their Q-Term. Such focus creates an arena for project-based learning, creative design, and service opportunities that enrich and deepen students’ connection to the content.

DOMESTIC & INTERNATIONAL TRAVEL complements the School’s academic curriculum and community service program and adds yet another dimension to Storm King’s already vibrant student life. Storm King students have broadened their horizons, experienced different cultures, and learned about the natural world through trips to Costa Rica, Peru, Fiji, Cuba, the Galapagos Islands, New York City, Boston, the Adirondacks, and many others.

NEW YORK,
NEW YORK,
NEW YORK...

One of the greatest assets of The Storm King School is our close proximity to New York City. Imagine, you could be having breakfast in the dining hall, then hop on a school van for a day trip to Manhattan, and return in time for afternoon activities! Recently, our students have traveled to the Metropolitan Museum of Art and MoMA, Pierre Cardin's Future Fashion Exhibit in Brooklyn, and the Spanish Theatre to name a few. Meetings with Wall Street executives are always favored by our economics students and a recent hands-on excursion brought our students up to the 82nd floor of the World Trade Center for a meeting with media experts at Mic.com. Weekend activities have included walking the High-Line, touring Central Park, and sampling some of the City's best food.

ADVICE FROM ALUMNI

“My time at Storm King has left a very positive and everlasting impression on me. I had terrific, demanding, supportive, and engaging teachers with sharp and precise minds, and great mentors who held high bars for us by challenging us regularly and positively.”

—Massoud Amin '79, Director of the Technological Leadership Institute, University of Minnesota

“At the Storm King School, I learned principles that have been guideposts for me as I journey through life. These include how to be compassionate, how to live my life with integrity and passion. But, perhaps the most important influence SKS has had on me is the lifelong connection to the School, my classmates, and the faculty and alumni who are pillars of support to me whenever I need them. I wouldn't exchange one moment of my connection to SKS for anything.”

—The Honorable Harold E. Kennedy '73, Dartmouth College, BA Texas Southern University, Juris Doctorate

“At SKS, you have many opportunities. Get involved and try new things. I took a computer science class which sparked my passion for programming, and that is what I am now pursuing in college. I also played several sports and participated in theater.”

—Taehan Lee '16, Carnegie Mellon University

“SKS helped to foster my interest in international affairs. The professors always challenged us to be independent thinkers and nurtured our inquisitive side. I am a beneficiary of the academic freedom that SKS professors enjoyed that allowed them to not shy away from subject matter that could prove to be controversial.”

—Tyresse Horne '83, Lawyer

“This is a really phenomenal place to be...Don't miss out on what's in front of you [and] cherish these years. Storm King is where I learned to study, I learned how to be me.”

—Mike Sloan '77, University of Chicago

“I would not trade my experience on the Mountain for the world. It has made me strong, outgoing, worldly, and malleable to change. Those are the very qualities that make me successful at my job in the Air Force. As I complete each task put in front of me, I always remember my roots and feel so much gratitude towards SKS for helping me get to where I am today.”

—Gabby Garcia '16, Air Force

“I live in Los Angeles and work as a television writer. I believe my years at Storm King were very influential in defining who I am today.

I gained a love of the outdoors playing soccer on the upper field overlooking the Hudson River, and having spent a lot of time climbing on the Mountain and running in Black Rock Forest.

I had teachers who were both mentors and friends and who were invested in my growth on both academic and personal levels.

I made great friends at Storm King, and in my 50th decade, I find it incredible how close I still feel to them.

Life at Storm King taught me how to live independently and to think for myself. We were given the room to make decisions for ourselves, from class schedules, to sports, to what we would do for recreation. Much like college, it was a time for huge personal growth.”

—Heather MacGillvray-Myman '81, Professional Writer, currently writing for CBS' Kevin Can Wait TV series
